Sicherheitsingenieur (Safety Engineer) is the opinion-forming trade magazine in the occupational health and safety sector in Germany and excellently addresses the target audience. It reaches the important decision-makers in companies who are responsible for safe work processes and the procurement of equipment that complies with the requirements.

With its mix of scientific and practice-oriented reports, Sicherheitsingenieur provides orientation for all OHS specialists and executives. The articles are relevant for all industrial sectors and support safety engineers and experts for industrial safety in their daily work. The fields covered include technical industrial safety, prevention, organisational industrial safety and the selection of personal protective equipment.

Title: Sicherheitsbeauftragter

In brief: From "personal protective equipment", "ergonomics", "hand and skin protection" over "noise, light and climate in the workplace" up to "electrical safety" and "hazardous materials", the magazine serves as practice-oriented guide for safe and healthy working in every company. In addition, the magazine supports its readers in the right selection and recommendation of products for personal protective equipment to employees.

Safety officers and occupational safety specialists keep up to date with this practice-oriented trade magazine, so that they can prevent accidents and health hazards in their companies and comply with the legal requirements.

In cooperation with the trade magazine “Sicherheitsingenieur”, “Sicherheitsbeauftragter” offers a competent communication platform for all issues pertaining to occupational health and safety.

Your Partner for Touchpoint Marketing

For all phases of the customer journey, Konradin Industry has an ideal cross-media offer

The customer journey model follows the constantly evolving needs of the target group throughout the buying process. The marketing goal is to create optimal touchpoints.

1. Latency
   Even without buying intent, purchase impulses are required
   - If you want to attract attention, you have to stand out and be 'loud'. A purpose of traditional advertising.
   - Pull-Marketing-Activities

2. Exploration
   Active research, familiarisation with the subject matter and definition of the purchasing criteria
   - Advertising ensures awareness of solutions and USPs
   - Pull-Marketing-Activities

3. Consideration
   Narrowing of alternatives, selection of possible suppliers and products (relevant set)
   - Advertising strengthens the supplier’s image and identifies tangible product advantages
   - PR facilitates confidence-building via references, testimonials, etc.

4. Purchase
   Negotiation of services and conditions for purchase
   - Direct sales advertising with pricing/promotions
   - Interaction between marketing/sales

5. After Sales
   Exceptional customer service will secure loyalty and reduce the next journey
   - Brand/image advertising to authenticate your qualification (as a big player, industry or technology specialist).
   - Customer communication and user interaction

Customer-journey model
Divided into 5 distinct phases. Depending upon how they are experienced, changes in direction or abridgement may also occur.

Why lead generation?

Prospective customers initially look for solutions to their problems and not for products!

Information is increasingly being researched via the Web, at the individually appropriate time within the customer journey. Until the prospect comes into direct contact with the (desired) provider, he will remain unrecognised.

Conclusion: The prospective customer, thus the potential buyer, must be addressed through different TouchPoints – in terms of both time and content.

What is a ‘lead’?

You will receive qualified contacts with a concrete interest in your specific topic. You can then use these valuable contact details for your marketing or sales communication in accordance with EU-DSGVO (General Data Protection Regulation).

Factors for successful lead generation:

- Topicality of the subject
- Relevance of the topic for the target group
- Users and exclusivity of the information presented
- Size of the defined target group

How does lead generation work with Konradin Industrie?

MQL or SQL?

Marketing Qualified Lead (MQL) is a lead with interest in your product or service. You can reach MQLs with the online tools Webinar and Whitepaper (see the following pages).

Sales Qualified Lead (SQL) is a contact that has developed into a genuine prospective buyer through their own activities and with the support of marketing.

You can reach SQLs with Konradin Industrie through tailor-made campaigns that we develop mutually with you. You will benefit from our professional campaign management. Marketing automation and nurturing processes, as well as the entire portfolio of Konradin media channels, will be adopted to fulfil the objectives of your campaign. In addition, our team of experienced editors will assist you with content creation.

Any questions? We are happy to help!
Webinar – convey worldwide expertise and generate leads

The advantages of a webinar package

- New contacts – get to know potential customers who are specifically interested in your product.

- Competent implementation – based on our webinar experience, we organise your webinar, you appoint the speaker.

- Image enhancement – modern forms of media for modern people.

- Cost and time savings – regardless of location, no travel expenses or accommodation costs.

- Multimedia knowledge transfer – share audio and video content or files with the participants.

- Direct contact – in the form of a Q&A chat session and additional polls for a further qualification of leads.

- Detailed reporting – You will receive the results of the polls, the attention rate and the average length of stay during a webinar.

- Webinar recording – We record your webinar and put it online as an on-demand webcast on our websites – additional lead generation.

B2B Decision-Maker Analysis 2017

For years, Deutsche Fachpresse, the German trade press association, has been observing the use of specialist media in Germany through extensive studies. Current key findings are:

• Specialist media are top influencers of professional decision-makers in Germany.

• Specialist media are the source of information most frequently used by professional decision-makers and have the strongest influence on decision-makers in the most important phases of the purchasing process (customer journey).

• Print stays the authority in the market. Who and what is important in the industry sector/occupational group? Most decision-makers look up the response to this question in printed trade magazines. This is confirmed by...

  - 5.3 million respondents: "Is credible, meaning the information is neutral and reliable"
  - 5.1 million respondents: "Conveys which products and services a provider currently offers"

• Decision-makers expect advertising presence in trade media: 76% agree: "Companies regularly advertising in trade media demonstrate that they are important players in the market"
Trade Media are the Top-influencers
B2B Decision-Maker Analysis 2017, © Deutsche Fachpresse

To a significant extent, trade media trigger further activities:

- The interaction of editorial services and advertising-relevant information is seamless: trade media have a highly influential effect on professional decision-makers.
- Reading trade media prompts decision-makers to retrieve additional product information in different ways.
- Top decision-makers are significantly more active than the average. More often than their colleagues or employees, they retrieve further information from the provider based on what they read, or talk to others about this information.

Trade media inspire

Trade media trigger further activities

- 79%
  - Talked to others, such as colleagues, about this information.
- 62%
  - Directly contacted the provider.
- 51%
  - Ordered product brochures.
- 45%
  - Attended a trade convention or event.
- 76%
  - Retrieved more information from the provider’s website.
- 43%
  - Visited a provider’s stand at a trade fair.

- 49%
  - Practiced once or several times by trade media users in the past 12 months.

(Charts showing percentages for all decision-makers and top decision-makers.)
The Konradin Industrie portfolio comprises 17 industrial media brands. The range of trade magazines is complemented by individual websites and newsletters for each respective title. In addition to this, there are focused online portals. Trade events, which are carried out by individual media brands or in collaboration, round off the consummate brand portfolio.

The professional trade media of Konradin Industrie primarily reach audiences within the sectors electrical engineering, food and nutrition industry, automotive engineering, precision mechanics/optics, mechanical and plant engineering, medical technology, metal production/working and the pharmaceutical and chemical industries.
